Legacy Salmon Creek Medical Center's Child Abuse Assessment Team

Thursday, May 9, 2024 – 6:00-9:00pm | Royal Oaks Country Club, Vancouver, WA

Caring for Southwest Washington's most vulnerable children

The Legacy Salmon Creek Child Abuse Assessment Team (CAAT) is the only program in Southwest Washington providing compassionate, comprehensive medical evaluations for children when there are suspicions of felony-level physical abuse, sexual abuse or neglect. The overall goal of the CAAT program is to ensure each child is safe and healthy.

Since beginning its work over 12 years ago, Legacy Salmon Creek's CAAT has assisted in processing more than 7,000 child abuse referrals, and the demand for these services has grown significantly over the past several years. To provide the best possible care to as many children in need as possible, the 2024 Salmon Creek Cares event will support the work of the CAAT team, which cares for more than 100 kids in Southwest Washington every year who may have experienced abuse or neglect.

Services provided by Legacy Salmon Creek's Child Abuse Assessment Team

Seen by a CAAT Physician or nurse practitioner, children receive a head-to-toe medical exam, including a health and wellness screening to check for evidence of abuse or neglect. If abuse is confirmed, the team documents evidence in a manner acceptable to the courts. After the evidence is collected, the CAAT team develops safety and referral plans for each child and for non-offending family members, including safety recommendations and referrals to other medical and support service. The CAAT providers also deliver expert court testimony when needed.
